

When Her Back Aches

A Woman Finds All Her Energy and Ambition Slipping Away.

Barre women know how the aches and pains that come when the kidneys fail make life a burden. Backache, hip pains, headaches, dizziness, distressing urinary troubles, all tell of sick kidneys and warn you of the stealthy approach of diabetes, dropsy and Bright's disease. Doan's Kidney Pills permanently cure all these disorders. Here's proof of it in a Barre woman's words:

"Mrs. Frank Jones, 108 South Main street, Barre, Vt., says: 'About five years ago, when living in Worcester, I began to suffer from kidney trouble and had such terrible pains in my back that I could not sleep. I could hardly get about. I tried many things but nothing helped. I was told to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so, although I had not much faith in their merit. After using them a few days, I found that they were helping me, and I continued taking them until the pains in my back had entirely disappeared. The other symptoms of my trouble were also greatly relieved and I felt better in every way. For sale by all druggists. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMillan Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.'

Like Finding Money

"D. F. Davis, the popular druggist, is making an offer that is just like finding money, for he is selling a regular 50c bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount, he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure."

It is only recently, through the solicitation of Druggist Davis, that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors to allow him to sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment, for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, speaks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity. Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, D. F. Davis will return your money.

FATHER KILLS CHILD.

New York Man, Ill and Out of Work, Shoots Two and Attempts Suicide.

New York, Feb. 1.—One child's life was taken and two other lives, one of which is in danger, as the result of a desperate father's mania, which broke out in murderous form in his home on East Fifth street yesterday. Ill, out of work and despondent, Daniel Ryan, thirty-five years old, a former city employee, tried to end it all by killing his two children and himself. The father succeeded in sending a bullet through the head of his three-year-old daughter, Emily, killing her instantly and in all probability fatally wounding the two-year-old boy of the family, Willie. Ryan then shot himself in the head and in an hour after the shooting was reported as sinking rapidly in the hospital to which he was taken with the wounded child.

Saved from Awful Peril.

"I never felt so near my grave," writes Lewis Chamblin of Mill health, Ohio. "It was when a frightful cough and lung trouble pulled me down to 115 pounds, in spite of many remedies and the best doctors. And that I am alive to-day is due solely to Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. Now I weigh 180 pounds and can work hard. It also cured my four children of croup." Infallible for coughs and colds, it's the most certain remedy for la grippe, asthma, desperate lung trouble and all bronchial affections. 50c and $1.00. A trial bottle free. Guaranteed by Red Cross Pharmacy.

Possible Impachment.

Culpeper's Remedies.

Old time physicians prescribed even more unwholesome remedies than ranid butter, which was Emperor Menelik's cure for malaria fever. In "Culpeper's Remedies," published originally in 1850 and reprinted as recently as 1890, are such prescriptions as "oil wherein frogs have been sodden till all flesh is off from their bones," "horse leeches burned into powder" and "black soap and beaten ginger." Some of Culpeper's remedies are of some practical nature. "If red-hot gold be quenched in wine," he says, "and the wine drunk it cheers the vitals and cures the plague. Outwardly used it takes away spots and leprosy."

WILLIAMSTOWN.

"Farmers' Institute" Last Saturday Was Well Attended.

The "farmers' institute" that had been duly advertised for our place, was held at our beautiful grange hall last Saturday afternoon and evening. There was a good attendance and O. L. Martin of Plainfield, who seemed to have the affair in charge, said it was one of the best meetings of the kind this season. So far as we could judge, there seemed to be a hearty interest in the addresses of the speakers. Only one of the expected lecturers was unable to be here, viz., A. F. Hawes, state forester. A verbatim report of the talk of the occasion might afford much interesting reading, but that is not, we suppose, to be had. "D. H. Lamberton, editor and former educator," as the program announced of him, spoke of the study of "Agriculture in Public Schools," and advocated it strongly. He had some pretty severe criticisms to make of these schools, the justice of which we should have to leave to other educators to estimate. B. Walker McKen, lecturer of Maine state grange, was listened to with much interest as he spoke of "Improving Our Corn Crop." As a practical farmer and a very plain speaker, he might naturally be expected to please. Prof. J. W. Sanborn of Gilmanton, N. H., the owner of a farm of hundreds of acres, we heard, spoke in the evening of "Extensive, Intensive Cultivation," and we judge was well liked. It was a very natural question to put to one and another of the hearers of these speakers, "how did you like it all?" or, did you learn anything new?" to be answered in some instances, "nothing." "No, I had not heard of it before." However, it seems to us that meetings like the two here last Saturday must do a vast deal of good, not alone in positively new ideas advanced, but in the stirring up of thought and study, and stimulation to greater and greater efforts to make permanent the good, every way, that she can be made to be.

Mrs. Charles P. Brockway is visiting an aunt, Mrs. William Wells, of Newbury.

Mrs. Horace E. White has been very poorly in late days and her case seems critical indeed.

Bert Bruce has been having the care of a trained nurse in the last few days. He is thought to be gaining.

Former townsfolk, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Bruce, now of Randolph, were visiting friends here the first of the week.

Don A. Earle and wife, now of Fitchburg, Mass., were in town on Monday, the guests of Mr. Earle's brother, George C. Earle.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church will have a social at the home of Mrs. Henry Ladd on Thursday afternoon and evening of this week.

The feeding is one of inexpressible regret here, now that we think we can reasonably hope there is to be a speedy end of the granite troubles of the last nine or ten weeks.

Guy Badger, who worked some months last year in Southington, Conn., has been at the home of his father, C. A. Badger, in East Montpelier, in the last month or two or more.

Miss Lucy Ainsworth, daughter of the late Charles A. Ainsworth, of Moline, Ill., and so pleasantly known to some of our citizens, is spending the winter in Osburne, Texas.

Andrew Burnham continues so poorly in health that he will be taken to the home of his son in Mill village the first of this week, where it is hoped he may soon be better.

Jerry Fifeled, who has driven an express wagon for years in our village, is moving this week to Bethel. The house he is to vacate, we are told, will be occupied by Frank Passers, a Swiss granite man.

Lewis M. Seaver recently gave the family of our old townsman, Luther Newcomb of Wichita, Kansas, a very happy surprise by calling on them in their home, while making his western trip.

Forrest Seaver has bargained one of his farms, viz., the one that he had lived on before buying the Bodony Seaver place, to Mr. W. H. Harvey, a son of his brother of the man who bought Fred Jackson's farm on Baptist street. He is a worker on a quarry.

Capt. A. S. Cowles of our Gulf House left here a few weeks ago with the intention of going with a sister in Connecticut to Florida, hoping to escape severe rheumatism. Word has come of late that he is laid up now with rheumatism at his sister's home in Connecticut.

Mrs. Norman G. Davis writes us from Wichita, Kan., that her health, at present, of her brother, Luther Newcomb, also of spring weather—green grass in places, etc. She hopes to return to Illinois a little later and expects now to keep in touch with old home friends here through the Barre Daily Times.

Sunday having been a birthday of Mrs. J. K. Lynde, Mrs. J. Munroe Seaver, one of the kindest and most thoughtful of our good women, improved Saturday in going to Montpelier to make a birthday call on Mrs. Lynde. We are happy in writing that it is an encouraging report that Mrs. Seaver brings back of Mrs. Lynde's condition of health. May such reports come thicker and faster!

Mrs. Seba Robinson Underhill died quite suddenly last Friday afternoon at the home of Alfred Carney, in our Mill village. She had been an invalid for some years and confined to the bed, one of her troubles having been cancerous. She had long been in the Carney family. She was some 74 years of age. She is survived by two brothers, one of them, Fifeled Robinson of Chelsea, and a sister, who lives in Worcester, Mass. The funeral was at the Carney home at 1 p. m. Sunday. Rev. D. H. Strong officiating. The burial was in Chelsea.

We have just been gladdened by news of our former townsman, Return E. Davis, and son, Harold, who are now living in Chelsea. They are doing a place of 50,000 people and growing rapidly. They are on a dairy farm of 400 tillable acres and have over 100 cows. They sell milk for ten cents a quart. They have a new barn, 208 by 40 feet, made of brick and cement, and are of this best in the state. The farm is supplied with modern tools, and white and black help is plentiful. The owner of the farm visited the Messrs. Davis in North Danville before they went South, to arrange with them about going there, and they find him a fine, reliable man. They think they are doing a fine thing in their southern winter, in which, thus far, the mercury has only once gone to zero.

HINTS FOR FARMERS

A Place For Everything.

Recently I stepped into a farmer's barn and looked about, writes a correspondent of Farm and Fireside. The harness was thrown on the hall floor in a promiscuous heap. The saddles were over in a corner, and I noticed the mules had been working on them. A currycomb and brush and three horse blankets lay near by. The hallway seemed to be a general "catch all." I even noticed a hatchet and saw lying loose, and several hairpins were stretched across the floor.

The owner of all this material was as slovenly with his farming as with his barn. There was no air of prosperity about his place.

A short time afterward I was in the barn that belonged to this man's neighbor, and it showed a different view. The owner seemed to have a place for everything. In the hallway was the harness, but each set hung on its own peg. A box near the stalls contained brush and currycomb. At one end of the hallway I found a miniature workshop and bench, and every tool was in its place. Mares covered and halters hung on nails in their corners, and everything about had the appearance of neatness. Needless to say, it was a prosperous, up-to-date farmer who owned this barn. Everything about the place showed the touch of his skilled hand.

Winter Manuring.
Some farmers condemn the practice of spreading stable manure on frozen land as wasteful and extravagant. Other prosperous men are enthusiastic in their praise of winter manuring. This difference of opinion is based partly, but not altogether, on experience obtained under different conditions.

I believe that the opinion that this method is wasteful is usually based on prejudice only.

Manure drawn out and spread from day to day in winter, on grass lands especially, I have found beneficial. It retards the melting of the snow, protects from the cold winds, and as the snow melts its juices are carried down to the roots, which hastens the growth of the grass. In the summer this manure protects the roots from the sun, and through increased growth of the top and the roots the humus in the soil is increased and the productivity of the soil benefited.—Cor. Farm and Fireside.

Poultry Notes.
If the rats are destroyed now they cannot harm the little chicks later on. Were chicken houses disinfected occasionally there would be fewer outbreaks of disease.

When killing meat animals do not neglect to save some of the scraps to feed the hens and ducks.

Any arrangement for supplying fresh water at all times is well worth serious consideration and installation.

In charcoal nature has provided a simple remedy for many of the common poultry ailments. Provide plenty of it.

There is no gift required for successful poultry raising. Plain common sense and willingness to work are the essentials.

Small potatoes and turnips saved when the crops were gathered are valuable poultry food at this time if well chopped.

The Farmer and the Incubator.
One point, and an important one, in favor of the incubator is the fact that it can be put to work early turning out chicks, and consequently the farmer can have the first of the Poultry Tribune. The cocker from these hatches will be ready for the market at a time when they will bring the best prices, which is not possible, in any considerable number at least, in the case of hens hatched chicks for the simple reason that it is impossible to get a sufficient number of broody hens so early in the season. The pullets from these early hatches will begin laying early in the fall, while the hens are in molt and when eggs are high in price, and if given proper care will keep it up all winter. Early pullets properly cared for make the best of winter layers.

Selecting Brood Sows.
Proficiency usually is a family characteristic, and it is wise to select a prospective brood sow from a large litter of robust pigs. The strongest pigs of a litter most suitable for prospective sows usually nurse from the teats nearest to the front of the udder. The prospective sow may therefore be chosen before she is taken from her dam. In selecting brood sows the highest possible standard of excellence should be retained, and all others should be marketed for pork.—Fro.

Foreign Hair Critics.

Shrewd foreign observers have remarked that if the American woman of middle age would spend a fraction as much money on her hair as she does on her boots and hosiery, she would be the most ravishing creature in the world. In France and England, the first gray hair is a tragedy, and to avert this tragedy as long as possible is a matter of vital and absorbing moment. When attacked with prompt action, however, this tragic army may be utterly routed or its onslaught at least postponed. Nearly all druggists nowadays carry in stock or can promptly get HAY'S HAIR HEALTH, which is the recognized antidote for prematurely gray hair. It is well to avoid unknown and untested remedies claiming to be just as good as HAY'S HAIR HEALTH. Many of these preparations are distinctly harmful, and their only excuse for being is to trade on the twenty years' reputation and good will that HAY'S HAIR HEALTH has earned by reason of its remarkable efficacy when applied in time. It costs only 50c or a dollar for a bottle. At druggists or from the manufacturer, Phils Hay Specialties Co., Newark, N. J., U. S. A.

Anty Drudge's Monday Morning Song.

Fels-Naptha does my washing,
And I have time to spare,
For while the clothes are soaking,
I'm free from work and care.

For scrubbing, house-cleaning and dish-washing Fels-Naptha soap is just as superior as it is for washing clothes. It does all any soap will do—besides lots of things impossible with other soaps.

For instance, it whitens floors in addition to cleaning them; takes dirt off varnished surfaces of hard wood without dulling the varnish; brightens dingy paint work and brings out the colors in oil-cloth and linoleum;—and in doing this cleaning you use a cloth instead of a scrubbing brush. Easier, isn't it? It will remove grease and stains from carpets and rugs as thoroughly as can be done by a professional cleaner. It will even take out blood stains—the severest test a soap can be put to.

Full directions for doing all these things the Fels-Naptha way are printed in the wrapper—the red and green wrapper.

Fessor Fuller, Wisconsin Experiment Station.

Plant Fruit Trees.
Plant fruit trees on the unrefrigerated spots along the fence lines and in the fields. The investment is good—adds both to beauty of farm and to the value of it. Be sure fruit trees are set where they will have sufficient drainage. Many a tree is blamed by its owner for being a bad variety when the fault is in the drainage.—Farm and Ranch.

Cows Need Good Care.
Don't try to keep too many cows if your farm is small. Keep a few good ones and care for them well. Sometimes good cows and good feed may produce poor results if the management is not right.—Homestead.

Canine Etiquette.
In their relations with one another dogs have a keen sense of etiquette. A well known traveler makes this unexpected remark about a tribe of naked black men living on one of the south sea islands: "In their everyday intercourse there is much that is stiff, formal and precise." Almost the same remark might be made about dogs. Unless they are on very intimate terms they take great pains never to brush against or even to touch one another. For one dog to step over another is a dangerous breach of etiquette unless they are special friends. It is no uncommon thing for two dogs to belong to the same person and live in the same house and yet never take the slightest notice of each other. We have a spaniel so dignified that he will never permit another member of the dog family to pillow his head upon him; but, with the egotism of a true aristocrat, he does not hesitate to make use of the other dogs for that purpose.—Henry C. Merwin in Atlantic.

Commas.
The French do not, as a rule, employ inverted commas to indicate a dialogue, but they employ the dash to indicate a
